BJL13 Enterprise Solutions
End-User Software License Agreement

Version: 1.0
Effective Date: 01 September 2025

About this License

Multiple Language Versions:

We recognize that English isn't everyone's first language, and we want our tools to be truly accessible. While this English version is our primary reference document, we may provide translations to serve different communities.

Good Faith Interpretation:

If there's ever a conflict between language versions, we'll start from a place of good faith. We want to honor the agreement you understood yourself to be making, not trap you with fine print. If you relied on a translation that differed from the English version in a meaningful way, let's talk about it—we'd rather solve the problem than win on a technicality.

Beyond Language:

We're committed to making this license accessible in other ways too:

√ Plain language summaries for key terms and obligations

√ Large print or high-contrast versions for visual accessibility needs

√ Audio explanations of key provisions if helpful

√ Cultural context guidance when our terms might interact with local laws or customs

√ Community-specific accommodations based on the populations you serve and the identities you hold

Accessibility Standards:

Our software aims to meet WCAG 2.1 AA standards and Section 508 requirements. If you have specific accessibility compliance needs, let us know so we can provide documentation or guidance.

If you need this license in a different format, language, or with cultural accommodations, reach out, please!

We'll work with you to ensure you can fully understand what you're agreeing to—because true consent requires true understanding.

This reflects our core directive: we meet people where they are, with the tools and information they need to freely make informed decisions. By supporting local communities as they build themselves into centers of support and resilience for those who are marginalized, isolated, or oppressed, we restore social equity and reverse social injustices.

Our Commitment to You:

At BJL13 Enterprise Solutions, we build tools that liberate—not systems that punish. This license reflects our core values of RADICAL WELCOME, NON-CARCERAL PRACTICE, EQUITY THROUGH INFRASTRUCTURE, and COMMUNITY OVER CONTROL.

1. Grant of License

What You Can Do:

√ Use this software for personal, educational, or commercial purposes

√ Install the software on devices you own or control

√ Make backup copies for archival purposes

√ Use the software to support community organizing, public benefit work, and equity-building initiatives

What We Encourage:

√ Using our tools to advance social justice, empowering communities, and positively impacting the wellbeing of marginalized, isolated, and oppressed groups

√ Sharing knowledge about how the software helps your work (though you're not required to)

√ Providing feedback to help us build better tools

Plain language: You can use this software for personal, educational, or commercial purposes, including social justice and community work. Make backups. Don't stress—we encourage positive use, not gatekeeping.

2. Community Guidelines & Restrictions

In the Spirit of Non-Carceral Practice:

Ø You may not use this software to build, encrypt, or support surveillance systems, predictive policing tools, or technologies that criminalize communities

Ø You may not integrate this software with systems designed to punish, exclude, or harm vulnerable populations

Ø You may not use this software to facilitate discrimination based on race, gender, sexuality, immigration status, or other protected characteristics

Technical Restrictions:

Ø You may not reverse engineer, decompile, or disassemble the software

Ø You may not redistribute, sublicense, or sell the software without our explicit written permission

Ø You may not remove or modify copyright notices, trademarks, or attribution

Plain language: Don't use this software for surveillance, punishment, or discrimination. Also, don't hack apart the code, resell it, or strip our name off.

3. Community Over Control

Your Data, Your Control:

Ø We don't claim ownership of data you process with our software

√ You retain full rights to your work product and community data

Ø We won't access your data unless you explicitly request technical support

√ We can work with you to establish data retention policies that meet your compliance requirements, including secure deletion procedures when needed

√ Organizations with legal or regulatory record-keeping requirements can request documentation of data handling practices

Updates & Changes:

√ Software updates are provided to improve functionality and security

√ We'll communicate significant changes clearly and in advance when possible

√ You can choose whether to install updates (though we recommend staying current for security)

Plain language: Your data stays yours. We won't touch it unless you ask for support. Updates are optional but recommended for safety.

4. Radical Welcome & Support

Our Commitment:

√ We provide this software with the intention of empowering your work

√ Documentation and support resources are designed to be accessible and jargon-free

√ We welcome feedback and bug reports from all users

If Things Go Wrong:

√ We'll work with you in good faith to address legitimate issues

√ Our support approach prioritizes problem-solving over blame

√ We believe in repair and improvement, not punishment

> Plain language: We built this to help you. If something breaks, we'll work with you to fix it—not shame you for it.

5. Legal Protections (The Fine Print We Need)

Liability Limitations:

This software is provided "as is" without warranty. While we work hard to build reliable tools, we cannot guarantee the software will meet all your specific needs or be completely error-free.

BJL13 Enterprise Solutions' liability is limited to the amount you paid for the software license. We are not responsible for indirect damages, lost profits, or consequential damages.

Intellectual Property:

The software contains proprietary code, designs, and innovations owned by BJL13 Enterprise Solutions. This license grants you rights to use the software but does not transfer ownership of our intellectual property.

Termination:

This license continues until terminated. We may choose to terminate it if you violate the community guidelines or technical restrictions above in a way that undermines the mission of this software, our brand, or our values. Upon termination, please remove the software from your systems.

> Plain language: The software comes "as is." We can't promise perfection. We own the code, you own your work. If you break the mission, we can choose to end your license.

6. Governing Law & Dispute Resolution

Primary Jurisdiction:

This agreement follows Missouri law (where we're incorporated), but we recognize the world is bigger than one state's legal system.

Your Rights Come First:

We honor the strongest privacy and consumer protection laws that apply to you. If your local laws (like the GDPR in Europe, the UK's Data Protection Act, Canada's PIPEDA, or others) give you rights beyond what this license says, those rights still apply. We will not use this license to take away protections that are legally guaranteed to you. Instead, we'll meet you where you are and adapt our practices so your data, dignity, and decision-making power are respected under the frameworks that apply to you.

Let's Talk First:

Before anyone calls a lawyer, let's have an honest conversation. Most problems can be solved when people communicate with good faith and mutual respect. Reach out to us directly—we're committed to working through issues together.

Mediation Before Courts:

If talking doesn't resolve things, we'll try mediation next. This means bringing in a neutral third party to help us find common ground. It's usually faster, cheaper, and less adversarial than court battles.

Court as Last Resort:

If we truly can't work it out any other way, legal disputes will generally be handled in Missouri courts—unless your local consumer protection laws require something different.

Repair, Don't Punish:

Even in formal disputes, we'll look for solutions that repair relationships and address root causes rather than just seeking to win or punish. This reflects our core values: we believe in restoration over retaliation.

> Plain language: Missouri law applies, but stronger consumer rights where you live still protect you. If problems come up, talk to us first. Mediation before court. Repair over punishment.

APPENDIX I: SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS AND CIRCUMSTANCES

Special Considerations for Human Rights & NGO Work:

√ We support the use of our tools for humanitarian work, human rights documentation, and community organizing

√ If you're working in high-risk environments, please reach out—we may be able to provide additional security guidance or modified terms

√ We recognize that some NGO and humanitarian use cases may require enhanced confidentiality or data protection measures, and fully commit to adhering to reasonable safeguards for the transmission, processing, and storage of your information, if any exists; this also applies to any communication methods used.

√ Our systems and processes are built to meet or exceed the controls described in frameworks like SOC 2. We have chosen not to pursue formal certification at this time—not because we cut corners, but because we'd rather invest resources in making our tools accessible and affordable. We are transparent about our security design and happy to provide documentation of our practices. If formal certification becomes a requirement for your organization, let's talk about custom terms or shared-cost approaches to meet that need.

Plain language: We welcome use in humanitarian contexts. If you're in high-risk situations, ask us for extra help. We follow strong security practices (SOC 2 level, minus the certification price tag).

For Government & Institutional Users:

Export Compliance:
Your use must comply with applicable export control laws. You're responsible for ensuring lawful use across jurisdictions.

Data Sovereignty:
We recognize that some organizations have requirements about where data can be processed or stored. Contact us to discuss your specific needs.

Sanctions Compliance:
Use in countries or by entities subject to US sanctions may be restricted. Check current restrictions before deployment.

Audit & Transparency:
Government and NGO users may request security documentation or compliance information—we'll work with you on reasonable requests that align with transparency and accountability.

Multi-Tenant Security:
For organizations sharing infrastructure, we can provide information about data isolation and security boundaries upon request.

Incident Reporting:
Security-sensitive organizations may establish incident notification procedures with us for critical vulnerabilities or security events.

Plain language: Follow export/sanctions laws. Talk to us if you need data location assurances. We'll provide security and audit transparency within reason.
